October 2024

Vol. 91 • No. 1

SD Proficiency Winners Excel at National Level

Three proficiency winners announced at the 2024 SD FFA State Convention were selected as proficiency finalists on the national level. The three finalists, their home FFA chapters, and their SAE areas are as follows: Elden Blume of the Redfield chapter in the area of Poultry Production; Abbie Chase of the McCook Central chapter in the area of Service Learning; and Hailey Kizer of the Howard chapter in the area of Wildlife Production & Management. National proficiency results will be announced at National Convention at the end of October.

Elden Blume – Entrepreneurship, Egg Production at Blume Foods LLC

When Blume began his egg production business in 2020, he sold 48 dozen eggs per week. In 2023, he sold 150 dozen eggs per week. To increase the scale of his operation to where it is today, lots of innovation took place including becoming USDA certified and building a walk-in refrigerator to store his eggs. One of Blume's biggest accomplishments is creating a feed ratio allowing his hens to be the most productive while getting the needed nutrients and preventing unwanted disease. Photo Caption: Blume loads eggs into the front of the egg washing machine where the debris is removed. With this machine, 2,500 eggs can be processed an hour.

Abbie Chase – Placement, “Eco-Friendly Crop Production”

The goal of Chase's SAE is to help improve health and make a difference for students and community members by providing fresh produce grown in a hydroponic system. In the spring of 2023, she applied for a grant through her FFA chapter to assist in the purchasing of six hydroponics towers. In addition to growing strawberries, tomatoes, lettuce, kale, and basil, Chase gave a presentation to students and staff informing them of hydroponics. Challenges she overcame within her SAE were learning how to manage the nutrients and what seeds grow best in the towers. Photo Caption: Chase instructs students on hydroponics and how the produce grown would be served in the lunch room.

Hailey Kizer – Placement, Pheasant Production Specialist at Top Gun

Kizer has multiple duties while working at Top Gun regarding the care and raising of pheasants. Before chicks arrive, she cleans and sanitizes the barns, places and fills the feeders, checks the watering system, and ensures the heating system is properly working. Once the pheasants reach 35 days of age, Kizer equips the birds with peepers which are devices that prohibit the pheasants from seeing straight in front of them, decreasing the likelihood of them fighting. One of her greatest accomplishments is being able to handle the pheasants without damaging any feathers. Photo Caption: Kizer transports pheasants with a game bird crate from their inside habitat into their outside pens.

Celebrating a Legacy of Support

The South Dakota FFA Foundation is proud to establish the Craig and Maure Weinkauf Endowment, with a legacy gift from Craig & Maure Weinkauf to support FFA members. Interest from the endowment will fund the South Dakota FFA Wildlife Production and Management proficiency and other proficiency award areas as funds allow. This award honors FFA members who, through supervised agricultural experiences, have developed specialized skills involving managing wildlife and habitat specifically for wildlife and the improvement and availability of fish and wildlife through practices such as land and water habitat improvement or development, wildlife surveys, trapping or the stocking of fish and wild game.

Craig and Maure established the fund because they value the growth FFA provides youth, developing leadership and agricultural skills. Craig served as an agriculture education instructor from 1974-1977 in Miller, SD and from 1980-2004 in Watertown, SD at Lake Area Multi-District. When no longer connecting with students in the classroom, the Weinkauf's chose to support members by sponsoring the Wildlife Production and Management Proficiency. Craig and Maure were drawn to this award to honor Craig's father, Arthur Weinkauf, who supported wildlife causes by planting CRP and shelterbelts to improve wildlife habitat. They enjoy meeting finalists each year at the FFA convention and hearing about their projects. After funding the award annually for twenty years, the Weinkauf's made a planned gift to endow their support in perpetuity.

Craig Weinkauf shares, "We hope our example will instill in everyone the importance of supporting a variety of FFA activities. Having taught for 27 years, I have seen how these activities can motivate members to achieve their goals. This endowment means that we can continue to support the FFA well into the future."

"The Weinkauf's gift creates a legacy for them, becoming the first endowed proficiency with the SD FFA Foundation," said Gerri Ann Eide, Executive Director of the South Dakota FFA Foundation. "We greatly appreciate their dedication to supporting ag youth interested in responsibly protecting and caring for our wildlife as we continue to search for ways to feed the growing population. We are honored by their example of providing a donation that will impact South Dakota youth far beyond any of us now involved."

Chapter Chatter

Harrisburg FFA participated in the Homecoming Parade, with a float themed "Supporting Agriculture from the Dawn of Time." The float featured an inflatable dinosaur, cow, chicken, and pigs, which paraded alongside the display.

You Matter!

In FFA, every member is on a journey that will define their lives. Each of their experiences looks a little different. You impacted Natalie Hause, Parker FFA member, with your support of the SD FFA mission.

Already involved in agriculture, Natalie knew FFA would provide her with valuable technical knowledge and sharpen her leadership and career skills.

Natalie credits ag classes and FFA for helping her become a better leader and gain technical knowledge of the agriculture industry. "Ag classes taught me about animal systems and working with wood and metals." Through her SAE, she experienced various aspects of the dairy industry including cow care, nutrition, genetics, marketing, and how to prevent, recognize and treat common illnesses. She also operated forage and tillage equipment, a grain cart, roller and hauled and spread manure. Natalie served as chapter FFA president two years and was named the 2024 SD State FFA Star in Agricultural Placement!

You matter! Without your support, Natalie's journey would not have been possible. Donate today to grow a new crop of FFA Stars.

Six Days of Adventure

The mission of the FFA Ag Adventure Center is to showcase modern agricultural practices, communicate commitment to natural resources, and demonstrate wholesome and safe food production. Livestock is a big draw in welcoming the public into the Ag Adventure Center, yet once visitors enter, they are met with experiences and meaningful learning opportunities that touch on the vast elements of the agriculture industry. There was a great deal of excitement throughout the building when the two sows from Pipestone Systems began farrowing. People were able to see and interact with a beef cow, dairy cow, dairy calves, dairy goats, hens and chicks, mother sows and piglets, meat goats, mother ewes and lambs, rabbits, and a beehive. Favorites were the bottle calves, especially at feeding time, and the chicks and lambs.

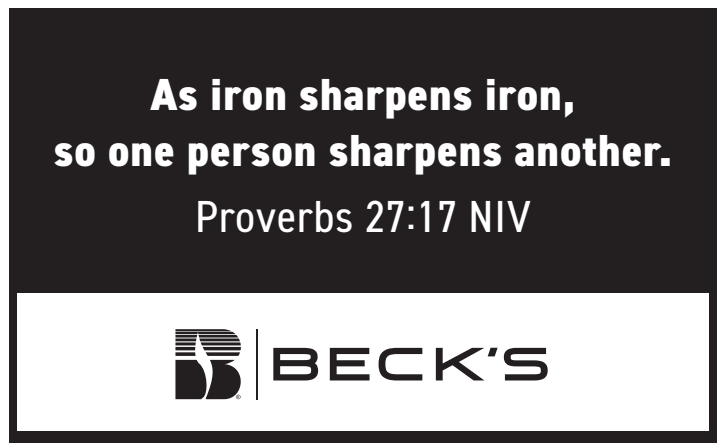

Educational interactive displays provided insights on cuts of beef and pork, ag commodities, an ag fact jeopardy, the Agtegra "Farm to Home" shopping area, and soil conversation activities. Scattered throughout were virtual tours of pig, chicken, and dairy barns, FFA members' Agriscience, tractor restoration, woodworking and metal projects, and even floral arrangements.

Chapter members, district and state FFA officers volunteering at the Ag Adventure Center is a great way to connect with the public and educate about agriculture and FFA. This allows for meaningful conversations and interactions, providing visitors an immersive experience. Ag industry leaders led activities throughout the week, including Dr. Eric Knock ultrasounding a cow, SD Beef making dry rub, a SDSU Dairy Processing presentation, SD Soybean Council making soy playdough, SD Farm Bureau's Ag trivia and scavenger hunt, the SD Soil Health Coalition's Rainfall Simulator, a SD Pork Producers "what pigs eat" activity, Bayer Crop Science hosting a "history of corn", Jason Albrecht leading "meet your local beekeeper" and East River Electric having a safety display.

Everyone walking past the Ag Adventure Center noticed new benches, landscaping additions including native and pollinator plants, and an evolution of corn exhibit with multiple varieties. Without the generous help from East River Nursery, John and Shelly Wilson, Nate Stuck, Delila, Paton & Jessie Coyle, Chris, Amy and Maya Howard, Bode Sweeter, Isabella Malley, Lowell Perman, Judy Morford, and Joe Schefers from Bayer Crop Science, these eye-catching, educational additions would not have been possible.

South Dakota FFA

Members Take on the Nation's Capital

South Dakota FFA members took on Washington D.C. this past summer, engaging in leadership development and gaining new skills to bring back to their home chapters. Washington Leadership Conference allows thousands of members from across the nation to engage in networking opportunities with other members, government officials, and leaders of National FFA. This week-long event hosted in the Capital City provides FFA members with many unique opportunities; touring the National Mall, developing a living to serve plan, and reflecting on the history of Washington D.C. Attendees are able to address their community needs while learning about the needs of the world around them. Gregory County FFA member Avery Zeisler said, "While in our group sessions, I had to evaluate problems within Gregory County and develop a living to serve plan." She continues to state, "It doesn't have to be an extravagant gesture... We cannot expect change without doing something to make that change."

Nominate Outstanding Ag Teachers for Their Devotion

Know an ag teacher who is doing a phenomenal job? Honor them by nominating them for the Golden Owl Award. Nationwide and the SD FFA are accepting nominations for the 2025 Golden Owl Award through December 31st, at <https://www.sdaged.org/GOA> or scan the QR code to the right.

Finalists will be selected from each SD FFA District, and one grand prize winner will be announced during State FFA Convention, as Ag Educator of the Year, receiving the coveted Golden Owl Award trophy, and a $3,000 Nationwide-funded check.

Dakotafest

From August 20th to 22nd, the State Officers had the incredible opportunity to attend Dakotafest in Mitchell, South Dakota. Graham Tire Company kindly provided the officers with space and a tent to promote the South Dakota FFA Association and South Dakota FFA Foundation online auction. During Dakotafest, they were able to meet and network with industry professionals and policy leaders who play key roles in South Dakota agriculture. The officers engaged in conversations where they got to hear about experiences and learn more about the vital role agricultural businesses play in the state. They also interacted with South Dakota FFA members and individuals who are either supporters of FFA or interested in learning more about the organization. Dakotafest was a truly enriching experience for the State Officers. They are grateful for this opportunity and look forward to continuing to promote and support agriculture in South Dakota. Picture: State Vice-President, Raul Berrones Pedraza, and State Reporter, Hailey Kizer, had the opportunity to visit with April Bowar about South Dakota Soybean. They were able to hear about a soy-based fire suppressant and so much more.

FFA Olympics Build Leadership

In June and July, two SD FFA Leadership Retreats were held at Swan Lake and Storm Mountain camps. Members from around the state attended, with 16 earning "Advisor Tribute" scholarships by writing an essay on the impact of their advisors. Time at camp was spent around an Olympics theme, with members enjoying activities, learning, and making connections. State officers led groups of members where they dove deep into learning about dedication, confidence, integrity, conflict resolution, communication, and collaboration. Additionally, workshops were hosted by Army ROTC. Members will use these new skills and ideas to benefit their local chapters and communities. Retreat attendees also participated in a service-learning project helping local communities work on beautification projects. Wrapping up with banquets, members were recognized for their growth throughout the week.

The retreats were sponsored through the South Dakota FFA Foundation by Mitchell Technical College, OMD/U.S. Army, and SD Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources and SD FFA Star Partners; CHS Foundation, Bayer, SD Corn Utilization Council, and Twin Cities Region Northland Ford Dealers. Retreat t-shirts were also sponsored by Hoegemeyer Hybrids, OMD/U.S. Army, SD Farm Bureau Young Farmers and Ranchers, FarmHouse Fraternity-SDSU, Mitchell Technical College, Kibble Equipment, SoDak Labs Inc., and Brevant Seed.

B&I Visits

August 7th through the 10th, the state officer team got the chance to visit and build connections with over 50 businesses mainly focused on the eastern side of the state. In teams of two they tackled business from Onida, Gettysburg, Watertown, Milbank, Sioux Falls, and Lemmon. Accompanied by some of the local FFA Members the purpose of these visits was: 1. to educate the officers and members about different sides of agriculture that they might not be accustomed to, 2. learn about the challenges that those businesses are facing, 3. share what the FFA is doing to try and help those challenges.

The locations visited include: SD Retailers Association, Department of Education, SD Ag Foundation, Farm Credit Services of America, First Dakota National Bank, Department of Agriculture, McFleeg Feeds, Fieber Vans Equipment, Titan Machinery, Midwest Veterinary Service, Glacial Lakes Energy, MackSteel, Winfield United, Dakota Granite, Kibble Equipment, Valley Queen Cheese Factory, Inc., STENGEL Seed & Grain, POET, Ottertail Power Plant, Victory Farms, Ringneck Ethanol, 83 Ag Sales, Oahe Grain, Yackley Ranches, Browns Agronomy, CHS River Plains, Cronin Farms, Grand River Grazing Association, Wheelers Manufacturing, Farmers Union Insurance, Gooseneck Implement, Current Connection, CHS Southwest Grain, Anderson Ranch, SD Soybean R & P Council, SD Corn Utilization Council, First National Bank of Sioux Falls, Paulsen Marketing, Citi, Raven Industries, Viaflex, Skinner Financial Services, Smithfield Foods, First PREMIER Bank, Lura Roti, Butler Machinery Co, POET, LLC, Dusty Johnson campaign, GroundWorks, and Edward Jones Financial.

The officers discussed the importance of inspiring future generations of ag leaders. They talked about the current labor shortage and how this has impacted many small and local businesses. They also discussed the variety of jobs available in both the traditional and non-traditional sides of the ag industry, showing that agriculture really is for everyone.

These visits allowed the state officer team to be able to learn and understand the many different opportunities in South Dakota agriculture!

District Officers Storm Deeper Into Leadership

District officers further honed their leadership skills this past summer at Storm Mountain in Rapid City, SD, during a brand-new leadership camp. This recent addition to the District Officer Continuum spanned three days, providing members the opportunity to dive deep into what leadership means in their lives. Through advanced leadership assessments, members were guided by Brian Gottlob, who helped break down the insights these tools offered, allowing each officer to define their own unique brand of leadership. Later in the camp, members received training in Agricultural Advocacy from Dr. Taylor Spronk of Pipestone Systems, enhancing their ag-literacy, equipping them with the skills needed to engage in meaningful, sometimes difficult, conversations with those unfamiliar with the industry. That’s not to say they didn’t have time to enjoy the stunning scenery of the Black Hills, further deepening the friendships and connections made with their team and fellow district officers.

Daphne White, the current District 5 Reporter from the Rapid City Stevens FFA Chapter, shared, "The camp allowed me to form new friendships, create lasting memories, and acquire valuable skills that I'll carry forward. I'm excited to give back to the FFA organization using what I've learned and continue my journey of personal growth." Scan to hear more from Daphne on her experience:

The first-ever District Officer Camp was a resounding success, expanding opportunities for South Dakota FFA members and paving the way for future leadership development.

Stiefvater Vies for National FFA Office

This October, Ella Stiefvater, will vie for one of the six National Officer positions that help run the National FFA Organization for the next year.

Stiefvater grew up near Salem, SD, was a member of the McCook Central FFA Chapter. She is studying Ag Communications at South Dakota State University. Ella helped lead the South Dakota FFA Association as the 2022-2023 State FFA President.

If selected, her main message through her year of service would be gratitude and living in the moment. "Gratitude is one of the key messages I hope to radiate to members during my year of service as a National FFA officer. I am so grateful that I am able and have the opportunity to apply for a position of prestigious leadership that is widely respected and made possible by the efforts of those who came before me. Reflecting that same thankful spirit to members for the opportunities they have and encouraging them to take advantage of them in a pursuit towards personal growth is a primary goal that I have set for myself" says Ella.

As one of the 35 candidates, Ella will begin interviews October 18th in Indianapolis. She will continue with candidate activities until the 2024-2025 National FFA Officer team is announced on Saturday, October 26th at the final session of the 97th National FFA Convention. Good luck, Ella!

Grants for Local FFA Chapter Service-Learning Projects

The FFA motto all FFA members learn includes the words, "Living to Serve", making service a core value taught to SD's over 10,000 high school Agriculture Education students through their FFA participation. The SD FFA Foundation recognizes the value of local chapter service-learning projects and wants to enable Agriculture Education programs to focus on student and community development. As a result, the SD FFA Foundation provides up to $500/chapter for service projects in their local communities.

Congratulations to the following chapters receiving SD FFA Foundation funds this fall for their service projects:

Bowdle – host "Thank a Farmer" Harvest Appreciation week

Ethan – construct and distribute sleep in heavenly peace beds

Howard – construct a garden shed for the community Garden

Lennox Sundstrom – create and distribute 50 farmer First Aid kits

Platte-Geddes – assemble 120 Birthday boxes for the local food pantry

Blue Jacket Program provides Corduroy Jackets to FFA members

To its owner, the FFA jacket is a physical reminder of the personal accomplishments achieved through the organization - a symbol of commitment and dedication for all who wear the corduroy. This October, the SD FFA Foundation awarded jackets to 431 FFA members from 88 chapters. These members demonstrated leadership qualities and personal growth and some may not have the financial resources to purchase their own jacket. Thank you to our 2024 jacket sponsors, who welcomed new members into the fabric of FFA:

Discovering Career Pathways

National FFA Next Gen conferences, which occur three times a year, focus on specific career pathways. SD FFA members Katrina Thon, senior and Peyton Roskens, junior, both Bridgewater - Emery FFA members were each selected through an application process as one of 75 students across the country to participate. At Next Gen, FFA members map out their future through career exploration sessions, industry roundtables and tours.

Thon attended the Food Products and Processing Next Gen Conference in Minneapolis, MN, June 25-28. She participated in various industry tours including the Food Building, Ardent Mills, Second Harvest Heartland, and Cargill Headquarters and interacted with members representing 21 different states along with many industry professionals. Katrina mentioned "I am so thankful to participate in a conference like the Next Gen as it has helped me explore various options for my future and how I can grow as an individual and potentially make a large impact on food insecurities in my community."

Roskens attended the Environmental and Natural Resources Next Gen Conference in Salt Lake City, UT, September 10-14. He participated in interactive tours at Antelope Island, Red Butte Gardens, Rio Tinto Copper Mine, Bingham Canyon Mine, the Great Bison Run, and the Great Salt Lake, while interacting with members from 24 states along with many industry professionals. Peyton mentioned "I am thankful that my FFA advisor recommended this conference as I was able to explore a different states natural resource options as I look to enter that career field after high school."

We know our FFA members are the next generation of leaders to fill the talent pipeline, and the Next Gen Conferences are a great way to connect them with skills and people to help them! We hope more SD members apply in the future.

Soil & Range: Fundamental to our Existence

As the school year kicked off, ag students across the state were learning about the importance of soil and managing it carefully to secure the production of our food. To test their knowledge, FFA members competed in regional land and range evaluation competitions. The NRCS hosted five regional contests with the winners moving on to the national contest in Oklahoma City, OK next May. The land & homesite judging contest focused on soil properties, runoff, land capability, and limiting factors concerning soil health, while the range judging contest allowed members to identify plants, provide adequate livestock carrying capacity, and assess habitat suitability for the given ecological site.

Congratulations to the 5 Land teams: Hitchcock-Tulare, Philip, McCook Central, DeSmet, Tri-Valley; 5 Homesite teams: Northwestern, Harrisburg, Kadoka, Wessington Springs, and Willow Lake; and 5 Range teams: Sunshine Bible Academy, West Central, Kadoka, Wessington Springs, and Webster/Waubay, that won their Regional FFA events. They will advance to national competition next May in Oklahoma City. Thanks to LeRoy and Cathie Draine, Rapid City, SD, for sponsoring $100 scholarships for the 1st place range judging individuals (Jimmy Burma, Sunshine Bible Academy; Molly Harty, Philip; Hayes Christensen, Wessington Springs; Sam Handberg, West Central; and Caleb Gaikowski, Webster/Waubay.) and the SD Soil Health Coalition for sponsoring $100 scholarships for the 1st place land judging individuals (Brooks Foss, Lemmon; Ashley Haven, Northwestern; Tucker Peterson, McCook Central; Seth Poppen, Willow Lake; and Megan Gereats, Dell Rapids.) We are seeking sponsors of travel scholarships for the winning teams.

Stories of Impact

One of the most gratifying experiences is reflecting on our biggest successes, then sharing them with you as a reminder of what your generosity makes possible. These stories are a sampling of the meaningful impacts powered by your philanthropic gift.

Discovering a World of Opportunities

Thanks to your donation, FFA can provide a place to call home, seize opportunities, build confidence, seek support, and discover strengths. Mallory G. shares, "As a freshman, my family moved from the largest city in our state to one of the smallest. A big change, but I already loved working on our family farm. I joined FFA as a freshman and took every opportunity. I received a jacket through the blue jacket program. Through creed speaking I became a more vocal, confident speaker. I learned how to judge livestock and I met like-minded people. FFA's open arms made my huge life change so much smoother. Looking ahead, I have much more to learn. I want to improve at livestock judging. Working cattle or when in the market to grow my herd, I use my livestock evaluation skills to make decisions. This is a lifelong skill I want to sharpen." Help Mallory and her peers discover more. Scan to watch your impact.

Fueling Future Careers and Service

Hands-on experiences in the classroom expose members to careers firsthand, preparing them for the workforce. Hands-on experience planning and conducting service projects at the chapter, district and state level, demonstrate how much can be achieved when we all work together. Isabelle C. credits FFA for opening her eyes to a career path and the value of working together. Your valuable contribution is growing the talent pipeline that will feed and fuel the world and lead the industry into the future. Isabelle plans to pursue a career in food science. Fuel others to create their career plans. Scan to hear how you ignited Isabelle.

CULTIVATING FUTURE LEADERS IN AGRICULTURE

Through your generous gifts, we are able to meet FFA member's immediate needs - providing scholarships to attend Leadership Retreat and Washington Leadership Conference, compete in Career Development Events, pursue agricultural degrees and become agriculture education instructors. This significant impact removes barriers, making premier leadership available to all SD FFA - building a future where our members and chapters receive the assistance needed to succeed in agriculture education. You made it possible for Skyler to grab a leadership opportunity and lead his chapter. Cultivate more leaders. Scan to listen to your impact on Skyler's story.

Your generosity helps grow member programs and experiences, engage new communities and partners with FFA, and empower local leaders. Without you, none of this is possible.

Why invest in SD FFA?

"I consider myself lucky to have been able to take advantage of many of the opportunities FFA offers. I know firsthand what it was like to not have FFA during my first two years of high school, and now as an alumni member, I can't imagine what my education and career path would have looked like if I hadn't had the chance to join. It's because of those life-changing opportunities and the many friends and connections I made through FFA that I choose to give back. Whether you've been involved in FFA yourself or not, it's undeniably shaping the lives of your future town leaders, future businessmen and women, and future farmers and ranchers who will continue the legacy of feeding and clothing our growing world for generations to come. But they're so much more than the future - they're changing the world right now with their research, their problem-solving skills, and their leadership abilities. There is no easier decision to make than to invest in our youth and the future of our world through the South Dakota FFA Foundation." – Sadie Frye, 2018 Northwestern Area Alumnus, 2019-20 State Reporter

"Investing in our emerging leaders will help keep agriculture and our cherished rural lifestyle thriving." – Alice Helderfer, DVM, Milesvills, SD and 1993 Alumnus, North Kossuth FFA, IA

"FFA provided valuable leadership opportunities to me as chapter and state president. I applied lessons learned from these experiences at SDSU in student government and as president of my fraternity. I continued to benefit from them throughout my career and currently as a community and regional leader. FFA inspired in me a lifelong commitment to gratefully give back to the organization." – Gary Hansen, Beresford Alumnus, 1970-71 State President

Farmers Mutual of Nebraska is proud to partner with the South Dakota FFA Association in advancing the education and hands-on experience opportunities for the next generation of agriculture leaders. Our communities are made stronger by a commitment to investing in our youth. The growth they encounter through the resources provided by the FFA will be showcased across the state for years to come! - Farmers Mutual of Nebraska
