Featured Speaker

Mallory White

Eastern Region Vice President

Mallory White, a Kentucky native, is a Junior at Murray State University in Kentucky, majoring in agronomy with an emphasis in production and sales. She says FFA is a family tradition. She grew up hearing FFA stories from her dad, uncles and cousins. With a background rich in production agriculture, she always knew she wanted to join the organization that advocated for the family's livelihood and future. As a National Officer, White hopes to diminish the stigma of competition in the organization and reignite the excitement for the future of agriculture with members, supporters, and other stakeholders. "I want to remind our members of the educational value of our events so they truly get the most out of FFA. I will work every day to leave everyone I encounter this year feeling excited about the direction our industry is headed."
